

Service: what compassion looks like

- Working with people living on the streets of Birmingham/
- Hot food as a way meeting new people and getting to know them.
- Guests becoming hosts and hosts becoming guests.
- Becoming a Christ-centred community.

Chaplaincy

- A visible, Christian presence – meeting people where they are. Offering listening, together with spiritual and practical care.
- For example, town-centre chaplaincy in work-places and on the streets; Anna Chaplaincy with older people.
- Chaplains can be lay or ordained, paid or volunteers.

Church buildings and money

- Adapting buildings so that they can be accessible, community spaces.
- Using buildings to support partnerships with charities that provide our service to the community.
- What our buildings look like, and what happens in them represents who we are as Christians.
